Responding to the concerns expressed by students and parents on the conduct of examinations in the midst of the COVID-19 pandemic, Punjab Chief Minister Captain Amarinder Singh on Sunday announced the postponement of exams for the final semester students in all universities of the state till July 15, a press release by the state government read.

The final decision on the subject will, however, be subject to the new directions/guidelines expected to be released by the University Grants Commission (UGC) any time.

Seeking to allay all confusion and uncertainty on this count, Chief Minister Amarinder Singh said the postponement till July 15 would also give all stakeholders, especially the universities, time to adapt and align to the new guidelines that will come from the UGC.

An official spokesperson said Chief Minister Amarinder Singh felt there was a need to remove confusion from the minds of students, teachers and parents regarding safe conduct of examinations.
